Code of Conduct for Model UN Conferences

We welcome you to our sixth annual conference, and are excited to welcome you to our conference! Our conference is meant to be a day of lively discussion and debate in a welcoming and safe environment. To ensure these goals, we kindly ask you to adhere to our code of conduct while participating in the committees.

General Policy

Delegates should be wearing Western business attire whether participating in person.

Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each session, so delegates should expect to arrive at their committees at the time posted on the schedule and remain there for the entire session.

Modes of Communication During the Conference

We will use Google Docs for position papers and paper notes for crisis and negotiation; digital citizenship regulations apply to any use of technology for communication. We also ask that delegates practice patience as they communicate with other delegates and chairs as they are processing many “notes” throughout the committee.

Delegates should observe all conduct & digital citizenship regulations of their school along all policies and guidelines of the 2023-24 Student Parent Handbook are to be strictly adhered to especially regarding appropriate use of social media and other mentioned platforms.

Delegates are encouraged to write their resolutions via Google Docs, and when they are finished with their working papers, they will share them with their dais.

Any messages, gestures, posts, or comments of an obscene or offensive nature will result in immediate removal from the conference, disqualification of the school from receiving a delegation award, a report to the faculty advisor, and a reevaluation of whether the school will be able to attend TUSMUNC in the future.

If you receive a message that has sensitive or offensive content, please bring it to the chair's attention. We will notify the advisor(s) immediately of any potentially offensive interaction between delegates. Delegates may be removed from the committee due to inappropriate behavior.

The conference is only for students of the Ursuline school and those schools invited to attend TUSMUNC VI as well as approved school representatives.
